Push, Pa. "I'm All Right"
Not Too High Hat
Always Falls
Beer at Cost—in Canada
By ARTHUR BRISBANE

A young man struggling bravely against the forces of the lungs for 105 years, Albert Frick died.
The more pitiful, death could be expected.

Y can imagine that father's struggle to keep back the tears
when he had discouraged his boy.
The words were: "I'm all right."
There were no tears, no hope for such a son, no hope father may again meet his boy.
The words were: "Push, Pa." Then the work would show how the work could be done.

WE are angry in America because there was looking at Wuhan, China.
There American property is missionaries at Peking tells our minister at Hankow to get explained about it. That's right, but let us not be too high hat. We have occasionally looked at the Chinese after beating up the Chinese.

History this method has never failed. So says Gandhi, Hindu leader, who believes he can free India by teaching natives to make cloth by hand, by starving himself as a good example and by inciting the masses to disobedience.

THE new liquor law in Canada, considering beer "the workmen's beverage," will insist on the best quality only. The Ontario government wishes the workers are entitled to it.
So beer will be sold to workmen at cost, for profit made by the government.
But profit of profit will be made on the whisky, especially that sold to American tourists, who are expected to have at least $60,000,000 each year in Canada.

TEACHING millions of men to make money is dangerous, as shown by the case of the "automatic" when the Pittsburgh supplied a case of the "automatic" which passed a mine hidden in the road by the mine. The mine exploded, sending the car into the air, the bandits were killed and escaped. Five men in the mine were dangerously hurt.
The mine was a very complete job.

MEXICO, it is said, will amend her laws "to appease the United States."
The way to go about it, "The Rhine-gold" and more gold under financial control, don't interfere with profits of the corporation children. If you do it you touch the most sensitive spot of the most sensitive nerve of one of the most sensitive systems.

HERBERT T. PARSON, president of the Woodworth Co., who deals in the stores, with millions of dollars, predicts that this spring's business generally will be the biggest in the history of the United States.
He would comfort the pessimists.

Compton's Quintet Trims Highly-Touted Lancaster Team by 17-12 Score

OUTPLAYS OPPONENTS

Hundreds of Marion Fans in Edwards Gym for Battle Today

BY EDDIE SCHOENLEB
Sports Editor, The Star.

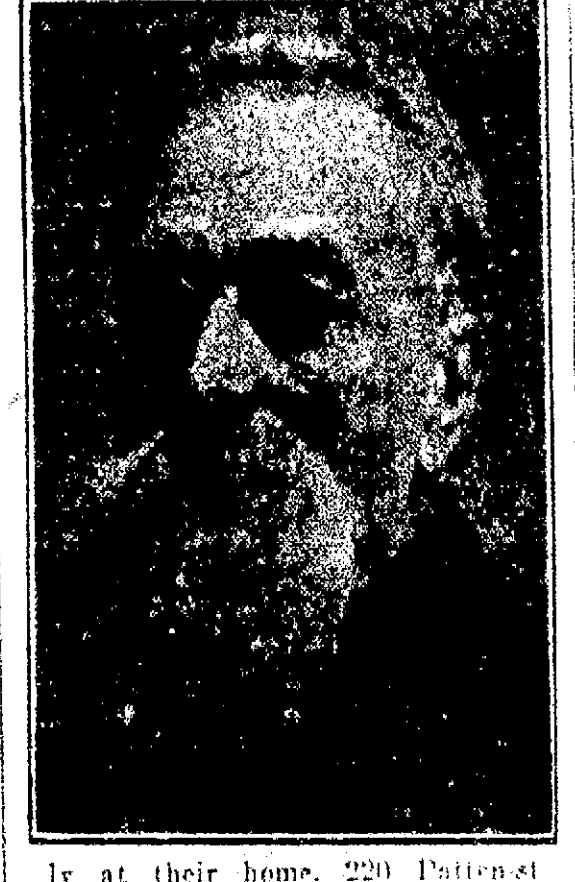

Harding High's fighting basketball team took the floor at 4 o'clock, this afternoon, against South High of Columbus, in the Class A championship battle of the Central Ohio District, staged in Edwards Gym, Ohio Wesleyan University, Delaware.

Harding went into the finals with South last night when it trimmed the highly-touted Lancaster quintet, 17 to 12, in one of the fastest basketball games ever witnessed in a district tournament. South defeated Columbus North, 22 to 12, in a ragged contest.

Will Celebrate Birthday and Sixty-Fourth Wedding Anniversary Sunday

THERE is nothing unusual or of particular interest in the average person's birthday anniversary. It is merely one of the ordinary run of common folk's anniversaries which have an obscure place on the calendar year in and year out and attracts practically no attention outside the immediate family circle.

Martin Luther Miller, dean of Marion's printers, is one of the common folk—he makes no pretense of being anything else. Yet his birthday anniversary is an event of considerable more than ordinary interest to the public.

83 Sunday

Mr. Miller, who must be referred to as "Law," the name by which he has been popularly known since his earliest years, in order to establish unmistakable identification, will be 83 years old Sunday.

That circumstance in itself would denote nothing out of the ordinary. Added to it, however, is the fact that Sunday is also the sixty-fourth anniversary of Mr. Miller's wedding, which ranks the event considerably above the average.

Mr. and Mrs. Miller are planning to observe the occasion quietly at their home, 220 Patterson with no special program for the day excepting probably a family dinner and getting a from some of their numerous friends.

There are other reasons why this double anniversary is an event of unusual interest although the fact that here is a couple living happily together after 64 years of married life is in itself sufficiently out of the ordinary to attract public attention.

Here are some details regarding Mr. Miller and his life which rank him as a pioneer.

Began Work in Printing Office at 16; On Job Every Day

him as an uncommon person in the ranks of the common folk.

He has been engaged continuously in the printing business for a longer period of years than any other person in Marion County, having learned his trade 67 years ago at the age of 16. He began work in Bucyrus and after a few years came to Marion, where he has been a familiar figure in various printing shops and newspaper plants since 1881.

Although no definite information is available from other companies, it is thought that this pioneer printer, who is still on the job day in and day out in the Marion Star's composing room, has the longest record of continuous service in Central Ohio. It is safe to go farther and say that there are very few printers in the entire state who rank with him as pioneers.

Started Pebbly

He has been connected with every newspaper, weekly and daily, published in this city during his 65 years of employment here. These papers include the Pebbly, a miniature journal which Mr. Miller turned to Page 7

TOTAL DEBT OF MARION COUNTY IS $824,879

Road and Bridge Bonds Make Up Entire Amount, Auditor's Report Shows

ACTUAL BILL $500,000

Road and bridge bonds amounting to $824,879 make up the total debt of Marion County, according to a report of H. C. Decker, county auditor which he has made up to submit to the Ohio Institute in Columbus for a survey being made now of the bonded debt of the counties of the state.

Aside from these road and bridge bonds the county does not have another kind of outstanding debt. There are no building bonds or other improvement bonds against the county.

From this amount of indebtedness must be deducted two items, one amounting $177,091 and the other for $107,405. These two items represent special assessment bonds issued by the county for road improvement and are charged against the property owners benefited by the improvement.

Reduces Total

Reduction of these two items reduces the actual bonded debt of Marion County slightly more than half a million dollars, which must be taken from the general county tax receipts. Special assessment bonds are retired from the payments of the property owners in their taxes.

Based on a tax duplicate of $90,000, 100 which is an approximate valuation for the county, the bonded debt of the county is nine tenths of one per cent of the duplicate, considering the gross debt outstanding. Considering only the net debt, made from special assessment bonds, the bonded debt is only six tenths of one per cent of the duplicate.

The report which Decker has made up is in response to a request of the Ohio Institute for figures on the road debt and total debt of the county. There is a bill before the general assembly now which seeks to limit the bonded debt of counties. State officials and others interested in the bill are poring over how high to place this proposed limit and are trying to arrive at a figure by studying the present debt of the counties and the relation of the debt to the tax duplicate.

Within Limit

Marion County will be well within any limit which might be placed on county bonded debts, the figures com-

SIX CONDEMNED CONVICTS MAKE PRISON BREAK

Three Halted by Tear Bombs at Joliet Jail; Two Are Captured

LAST MAN SURROUNDED

Mexicans Were To Have Been Hanged Today for Murder of Warden

Chicago, Mar. 12.—Two of three condemned murderers who escaped from the Joliet County Jail at Joliet were captured in Chicago after a gun battle today and the other was believed surrounded.

A cordon of police was thrown about the area in which Bernardo Rizo made his escape after the taxicab in which he entered the city was intercepted.

Six condemned convicts in all participated in the jail break but three were captured after a tear bomb battle before they could escape from the prison building.

All were sentenced to hang for the killing of Deputy Warden Peter Klein at Stateville Penitentiary during a riot which broke out May 11, 1915. Leopold, killer of Hobbs Frank, was repeatedly accused of having been the central figure.

Probably Fatally Wounded

Gregorio Rizzo who was perhaps fatally wounded and Roberto Rizzo were captured in the Chicago chase of one of the most sensational jail breaks in Illinois annals.

Rizzo shooting to the end, was captured while trying to fire his gun in the face of a policeman. A defective cartridge which failed to explode saved the policeman's life.

In addition to Rizzo, Policeman Leo Grant was shot through the stomach and John Marinovich, Indiana Harbor, taxicab driver, through the hip.

Policeman William C. Frost was wounded in the arm and leg in the fray between the escaping convicts and the police. His wounds were not regarded as serious.

Convicts Open Fire

When their cab was ordered to stop by a police automobile squad, the convicts opened fire and Policeman Grant fell. Marinovich was shot through the hip as he attempted to light from the cab.

The three Mexicans then dashed down the street and police lost sight of them. Rizzo finally was seen crouched behind a garage. Ordered to throw up his hands Rizzo fled through an arway and a hail of bullets and sought shelter in a house below the level of the sidewalk near the garage.

As Rizzo rushed into the basement arway he ran into Patrolman Caynaugh. Rizzo raised his pistol to the policeman's head and pulled the trigger. The cartridge failed to explode and Caynaugh then sent a bullet through Rizzo's body.

Saw Warden Out

These six desperados sawed their way out of the floor of death cells at the Joliet jail shortly after midnight.

All of the men were armed. Where they got their arms and saws is not known.

Torres, Rizo and Rizzo were the first to gain freedom from their cells. They overpowered a guard, shot and wounded a trusty who came in their way and then fled to the downstairs lobby of the jail.

Here they encountered John Krinich, who held the key to the jail's main entrance. He was forced to unlock the door and then taken prisoner by the convicts.

The trio fled to the street and, with Krinich and their captive, escaped in Sheriff Albert Magrara's automobile that was parked at the curb.

Meanwhile the other three convicts—Charles Duchowski, Walter Staleny and Charles Schrader—who had difficulty in escaping, were taken to the jail.

LARGEST RIGID SHIP PLANNED BY U. S. NAVY

"Sausage" Will Be 780 Feet Long; Will Be Monarch of Skies

Washington, Mar. 12.—The United States Navy is receiving designs and specifications for the largest rigid dirigible ever conceived by aeronautical engineers.

The new monarch of the skies, in all appropriations for which were approved in the session of congress just ended, will be 780 feet long, with a maximum "sausage" diameter of 130 feet. The cubic volume of its gas chambers will be 6,000,000 feet, against 2,300,000 in the Los Angeles, the largest dirigible now in service.

The Los Angeles is but 690 feet from tip to tip and 91 feet through its greatest breadth.

General details of the latest naval dirigible undertaking were revealed today two days after the British air ministry had announced plans in the house of commons for two new sky monsters of 5,000,000 cubic feet capacity.

In both countries, the projects had been under consideration for more than a year, but revelation to the exact limits of the building specifications came as a surprise bombshell to aeronautical engineers.

STREET SCRAPING WILL START IN CITY MONDAY

Service Director Plans Work on 86 Miles of Dirt Thoroughfares

Work of scraping and grading Marion's unimproved streets, many of which have become almost impassable during the winter months, will start Monday morning, Service Director O. A. Benedict stated today.

There are 86 miles of "dirt" streets in the city, Mr. Benedict says, and he expects to give all of them a thorough over-hauling. This work is done every spring as soon as the weather conditions permit.

The service director also plans to keep most of these thoroughfares oiled throughout the spring, summer and fall, not only to keep down the dust but make the streets more durable.

Patching of the city's asphalt streets, some of which are considerably in need of repairs, is also included in the public service department's program for the next few months. Mr. Benedict states that he expects to start in on the streets where the need of repair is most urgent and to continue until every asphalt paving in this city has been given attention.

The cost of all this repair work is paid from gasoline tax receipts.

They were John Anglin, 26, William's brother, and Cecil Bennett, 26.

$104,000 Payroll Holdup Added to Gang Terrorizing Countryside For Five Years

Pittsburgh, Mar. 12.—The Burchinal gang, most feared bandit band in Pennsylvania, today added to its five-year count of murders, robberies, bombing and petty thievery the $104,205 taken after its members mined an obscure suburban road and blew up an armored pay truck and a guard car taking payrolls to the Pittsburgh Terminal Coal Company's Cordele mines near here yesterday, police believed.

The bandit gang at whose doors police laid responsibility for the bombing, in which five payroll guards were hurt and the heavy truck and guard car blown into the air, holds a score of three murders in the last five years and its loot is variously estimated at upwards of a quarter million dollars.

Oakland Evangelical Will Observe Third Anniversary of Its Founding on Sunday

Evangelist To Have Charge of Special Services and Preach; Musical Program Arranged by Members of Church Choir

Oakland Evangelical church, which celebrated the third anniversary of its founding on Sunday, March 10, 1924, the present beautiful and commodious structure was dedicated by Bishop S. P. Spreng of Naperville, Ill. It was built to meet the needs of the growing Sunday School and now affords separate class rooms for 25 classes.

First Pastor
Much credit for the success of the church is due to the untiring and self-sacrificing labors of Reverend Ruhlman, the first pastor, who laid such a splendid foundation for the work. His capable leadership is especially evidenced in the exceptionally well organized congregation.

The Sunday school is graded and now enrolls 591 students including a grade roll of 140. There are four Christian Endeavor societies, adult, senior, intermediate and junior, which furnish opportunity for Christian training and supplies clean and wholesome social activities for the young people of the church. There is also a Women's Missionary Society with a Young People's Missionary Circle and a Mission Band under its direction.

Many oldtime revivals have been held since the institution of the church and special emphasis placed on the midweek prayer services which now have an attendance of about 100. The membership on the whole is a working group of people who stand by their pastor in his efforts to reach the unsaved and bring them to Christ.

Rev. H. E. Williamson, pastor of the church, declares, "Every member of the official board attends and takes part in prayer meeting. John L. Davis is the energetic Sunday School superintendent and Lawrence Arquette is director of the orchestra."

Three young men of the church have been licensed to preach, while a number of others have entered other forms of Christian service. Reverend Williamson, the present pastor, came to this church last September, and the work shows progress under his leadership. He is a graduate of the Evangelical Theological Seminary at Naperville, Ill., and has spent twenty-two years as an evangelistic pastor in various fields of the Ohio conference, seven years of that time being on the Lindser charge. He has also served as evangelist, assisting pastors of churches with gratifying results. Among these churches are Fremont, Akron, Bucyrus, Amherst, Elliston and Cleveland.

He believes and preaches the Bible as a divinely inspired book, is a fundamentalist and firmly believes that the ministry and the church are placed here for the purpose of converting sinners. A most successful revival was held by the pastor in November and since that time there has been from one to eleven seekers at the altar of prayer at the regular services of the church. The attendance at the services is also growing. This church will join with the Greenwood and Calvary Evangelical churches in a union revival two weeks before Easter and in June the Oakland church will have a special evangelistic campaign under the leadership of the Pettoford Evangelistic Party of Columbus, O.

Sanctity of the Home

BY REV. W. R. SHIVELY
Pastor, Church of Brethren

THE home is an imperfect institution for it is a human institution.

However, if the home be Christian it is the greatest organization of all. A home is a family living together in holy love and in the spirit of Christ. Love is the tie that binds the family together and without it decadence would be inevitable. It is the mother virtue of loyalty, sacrifice, forbearance, patience and good humor. Christ is the heavenly benediction upon the home. As the ark of Jehovah, which symbolized His presence, proved to be a benefit in the house of Obededom (1 Chron. 13:14) so does Christ graciously bless the home in which he dwells.

In the Christian home quarreling is unheard of and divorce is foreign to the mind and heart. In the Christian home there is no shifting of responsibility. Childish prattle and prank will reign there and happy parents will unitedly contribute, through instruction and creation of environment, to the future welfare of their offspring.

In this particular age there needs to be an increasing devotion to the home. General disrespect must be submerged under a growing consciousness of its sacredness, and youth must be reminded that homemaking is a serious matter, a business, and a lifetime duty. There is, also, room for improvement in devotion in the home. Love in the family circle must be fed or it will fade and die. Love toward God will bring and welcome His Hallowed Presence. God continues to dwell where He is made welcome, just as Jesus dwelt with Mary, Martha and Lazarus.

A family can do no better than to keep, with great perseverance, the fire of devotion to each other and to God everlastingly aglow.

SPEAKER GRAY NAMES MEMBERS OF COMMITTEE

Joint House and Senate Group To Meet at Statehouse Monday

COLUMBUS, Mar. 12.—Speaker O. C. Gray, of the Ohio House of Representatives, today named the members of the special committee on the proposed federal program for the lower legislative branch.

The committee, which was authorized as a subcommittee of the House of Representatives, will meet at the statehouse at 1 p. m. next Monday.

Consideration will be given by the special committee on the proposed federal program for the lower legislative branch, which was authorized as a subcommittee of the House of Representatives, which a similar special committee of the Senate was authorized to study.

ALL these loans and pensions, and other things, have been authorized, but the cash to pay for them isn't in sight. The House of Representatives, the Senate, the War and the Navy, Work, Davis, and Wilbur, plus a long list of lesser lights, are racking their brains to hit on some way out of the difficulty, but it's a hard nut to crack.

There's plenty of money available in funds that haven't been used up, but the problem's how to get it out. To sweeten up the cash drawers that are empty.

The rules are mighty strict about not mixing up funds. The treasury may be rolling in gold and the army starving to death, but the former doesn't contribute a nickel until Congress gives the word.

McCarl, Hines, Work, Davis, Wilbur, et al. may find a solution. Also, maybe they won't. If not, a lot of poor folks who can't stand it will just have to wait.

FIRE IS PROBED

State Marshal Continues Investigation of Columbus Blaze
COLUMBUS, Mar. 11.—Investigation of the origin of a fire which swept a rooming house adjoining the old Hartman Theater building here, in which two persons were burned to death this week, was being continued by the state fire marshal today, following the release of one suspect who had been detained on suspicion.

The suspect, relative of one of the victims of the fire, proved a satisfactory alibi and was exonerated, investigators said. Four other persons are under observation, and additional arrests are expected, investigators have expressed the conviction that the building was set on fire.

Two Chicago Gang Chieftains are Killed in Street Battle

RIVAL FACTIONS OF BEER RINGS RENEW WARFARE

Automobile Literally Shot to Pieces in Terrific Bombardment

Mar. 12—Two dreaded Chicago gang chieftains were killed in a spectacular street battle today as rival factions of bootleggers renewed warfare.

Another man may have been killed in the terrific battle.

Salts, chief lieutenant of the Salts, recognized here as the South Side beer running chieftain, and Charles Rubec, alias "Big Boy," are the men known to have been killed.

The bodies of Kencil and Rubec, riding in a machine gun bullet, were found on the street at the corner of Twenty-Ninth and Main streets, near the location identified as the property of the Salts.

Car Shot to Pieces

The scene offered evidence of the battle that had been enacted. The sedan car was literally shot to pieces, with bullet holes and empty shells.

Witnesses to the battle have been seen by persons living in the neighborhood who heard a machine gun firing.

When a few daring persons ventured into the area after the firing ceased they found the bodies of Kencil and Rubec.

Police believe the Kencil machine gun was being used by a man with a Canadian accent, when it was pointed at a car filled with rival gangsters, Kencil and Rubec.

Believe Salts Escaped

It is further believed that Salts himself was in the car, as it was known to be his favorite sedan.

Police have launched a citywide search for Salts, who is believed to have escaped on foot.

HERE'S MORE ABOUT COUNTY DEBT

piled by Decker show. The total debt is less than one per cent of the duplicate.

An indication of how far the county is within the limits of reasonable bonded debt is shown by the fact that bonds for the counties share of state bonds are limited to one and one-half mills on the tax rate, and Marion County is using only .753 mills of this amount.

The road and bridge bonds will be reduced by approximately $24,000 this year by the maturing of some of the bonds. This will include some bridge bonds issued in 1916 and other bridge bonds a few years later, the delayed results of the 1913 flood, which damaged many bridges but the defects did not show up until several years later.

The various classes of bonds now outstanding which Decker lists in his report are: County share of inter-county roads, $10,710; bridge repair bonds, $100,125; bonds issued by county for township share of county and inter-county roads, $161,107; special assessment bonds on county roads, $177,019; and special assessment bonds on inter-county roads, $107,405.

in getting out of their cells, finally followed to the jail lobby. But by this time Sheriff Margat and several guards had been aroused and met the convicts at the door. The convicts' exit was blocked.

But they were at liberty within the jail and armed to the teeth. The sheriff and his men dared not enter. After a siege of several hours the men were overcome with tear gas and returned to their cells.

Cut Light Wires

Realizing they were trapped within the jail, the three desperadoes had cut the light wires and thrown the place into darkness. The sheriff sent a hurried call for reserves. Guards from the state prison, city police and private citizens came to his aid.

A cordon of several hundred armed officers and citizens surrounded the jail. The sheriff then had his men hurl tear bombs into the darkened jail. When the convicts' firing ceased it was believed the tear bombs had accomplished their purpose. A squad of heavily armed men advanced cautiously toward the jail. They entered the door.

The convicts, as well as all other prisoners were found overcome by the fumes. The desperadoes were quickly put in irons and then jail was given an airing out and the other prisoners released.

All six convicts were to have been hanged today but were granted a stay by Justice Frederic De Young of the Illinois Supreme Court pending a review of their conviction.

Mias Juanita Gallardo, 19, said by police to be Roa's sweetheart, was taken into custody shortly after the shooting for questioning while police continued their search for the killer.

More than 15 police auto squads, armed with machine guns, pistols and bombs, combed the South Side district for Roa, who, it was feared, may have escaped.

swooped down upon the twisted machines, and threatening the wounded with death, rifled the payroll of $104,205 in cash. The gangsters made their escape in an automobile stolen from H. D. Light, of Meyerstown, Lebanon County, Pa.

Methods Revealed

As police searched the crime "hotlands" of the three counties for traces of members of the notorious band, they revealed the methods under which the widely-feared Burchianti operate.

Apparently under no rigid leadership since the man for whom their group was named paid with his life in the electric chair for his crime reign, the band strikes swiftly and ruthlessly. Police said the Burchianti gang has never been known to show mercy during its attacks.

This was evidenced in yesterday's raid, in which only by miracle the guards escaped with their lives. As the guards lay badly hurt in the wreckage of the two cars, they said the bandit gang "covered" them with revolvers.

and one member, apparently a leader, calmly surveyed one of the bleeding guards, lit a cigarette and laughed. "I've got a notion to bump you off just for fun."

Police first learned of the Burchianti gang when a band swooped down upon a Charlevoix interurban car at Eldorado, Pa., near there and escaped with a $20,000 payroll of the Pittsburgh Coal Co. A long series of payroll robberies followed, each blamed on the gang. The first murder recorded against the gang came when Patrick Murphy, a Scranton, Pa., salesman, was killed as the bandits stole the $70,000 payroll of the Glenn-Allden Coal Co. near there. Murphy was a passenger on a streetcar from which the bandits fled with the loot.

SPECIAL MUSIC ARRANGED FOR FIRE PICTURE

Entertainment Will Be Given in Connection with "The Fire Brigade"

A special program of music, including solo numbers by Robert Swisher, local fireman, will be an outstanding feature of the showing in this city of "The Fire Brigade," a motion picture being presented throughout the country under the auspices of the International Association of Fire Chiefs.

The picture is to be shown at the Marion theater throughout the week of Mar. 21, and the special music will be a feature of both afternoon and night programs. The orchestra numbers were prepared exclusively for this picture and are the same as those now being used in New York City, where "The Fire Brigade" was first presented in December and is still running.

Mr. Swisher, who will sing in connection with each program, has a voice of exceptional volume and quality. He has appeared on numerous occasions before Marion audiences and was formerly a balladist with Vogel's minstrels.

To Share in Proceeds

In an announcement published several days ago regarding the showing of the picture, here, it was erroneously stated that 10 per cent of the net proceeds will go to the local firemen's indemnity fund. Instead, the fund will get 10 per cent of the gross receipts. It was stated today. It is expected that this will result in a substantial addition to the balance now on hand.

A large part of the proceeds here and in all other cities where the picture is presented will go to the International Association of Fire Chiefs to be used in financing a nationwide fire prevention campaign. The association expects to receive about $250,000 for this purpose.

"The Fire Brigade," which features Charles Ray and May McAvoy in the leading roles, is pronounced by critics as being the best picture of its type ever produced.

CITY PLANNING BODY CONSIDERS APPLICATION

Instructs A. E. Reed To Obtain Additional Property Owners' Signatures

The City Planning Commission met in the office of Mayor Hazen, yesterday afternoon, and received the application of A. E. Reed, for a permit to move his motor car shop from its present location on W. Center-st. to a building at the rear of his home on S. High-st. Mr. Reed is engaged in the business of manufacturing motor truck bodies.

Under a recent ruling of the commission, all applicants for permits to operate business of any class in residence districts must present consent petitions signed by at least 10 owners of the property nearest the location of the proposed business. Mr. Reed has obtained the consent of some property owners but not a sufficient number to meet the commission's requirements. He will make an effort to obtain additional signatures and submit his application again at a later date.

The planning commission also discussed a number of proposed changes in the city's zoning ordinance which would extend the commercial district on Center, Church, State and Prospect streets to points beyond the present limits.

Part of these extensions have been voted upon favorably by the commission but it is not likely that recommendations will be submitted to Council until a decision is reached upon the entire list. The most important extension which the commission has not fully agreed upon would be on Church-st. west to Park-bld.

HERE'S MORE ABOUT LEW MILLER

he founded and from which The Star is said to have originated, the Independent, a weekly which fought for the Republican cause when newspapers paid more attention to politics than to news, the Mirror and the Dollar Democrat which battled just as valiantly for Democracy, the Transcript, a Republican daily which survived but a few years, and finally the Star, where he is now working and holding his own with associates much younger in years.

"Lew" Miller has been with the Star more than a third of a century and this circumstance brought him considerable prominence when his former employer and publisher of the Star, the late Warren G. Harding, was elected to the presidency.

Accounts of the veteran printer's long association with Mr. Harding were published through out the country and resulted in his receiving numerous letters of inquiry and requests for his photograph. Mr. Miller states that in response to these requests he has mailed more than 100 of his pictures not only to various parts of the United States, but to foreign countries.

Notable Employer

Another notable is included in the list of employers for whom Mr. Miller has worked during his many years of service. This man was Mr. Locke, of the firm of Robinson Locke, a pioneer publishing concern at Bucyrus. Locke later went with the Toledo Blade and became famous the world over as a humorist writing under the name of Petroleum V. Nasby.

Other publishers and printing shop proprietors for whom Mr. Miller worked during the early part of his career in Bucyrus were Mordecai P. Bean, James A. Esch, and John R. Chesser.

After coming to Marion in 1911, the publishers with whom he was associated at different times were Thomas H. Holder, Newsome & Wilson, James H. Vaughan, John Thomas, George R. Christian and Mr. Harding.

Mr. Miller's first training as a printer came from Kelly Dombough, former owner of a printing office in Bucyrus. Mr. Dombough was a brother of Philip Dombough, former Marion man who was a county official later years ago.

Born in Bucyrus

Mr. Miller was born in Bucyrus on Mar. 13, 1841 and was married in this city on Mar. 13, 1863 to Miss Mary Jane Cook, two years after his arrival here.

Four children were born to this union three of whom are now living here. They are Mrs. James E. Staley, Mrs. J. B. Ray, and Edward A. Miller. The fourth, Mrs. Henry Mounahan, died a number of years ago.

Because of his employment as a printer, chiefly on local news papers, during the last 65 years, "Lew" Miller is probably better informed than any other older residents on the history of Marion's progress.

Set Many Stories

In setting type which has held the story of news happenings or has advertised the wares of local merchants from the early days when village stores stood where modern department stores now stand, this veteran printer has had his finger upon the pulse of the community during all of these years.

He has set into type hundreds of

BUICK STAYS IN STYLE

Motor car types come and go, just as motor cars do. But the grace and distinction which characterize Buick always stay in style. They never become commonplace. The reason is, that Buick style is sincere, and expressive of the quality that is in the car. Buick owners never are asked to buy a car of exaggerated design, with lines which might become distasteful to the eye. Buy a Buick! And you will always be proud of your car.

Local police received a message from authorities at Washington, this morning, requesting them to assist in a search for Robert Backer, 32, who disappeared from his home there yesterday. Mr. Backer is described as having about five feet ten inches tall, weighing 150 pounds. He wears a dark suit and a wide rim black Stetson hat.

Spring Coming

BY EDNA S. DUTTON

There is something heartening about the coming of spring. It is a time when the world is full of life and activity. The sun is shining, the birds are singing, and the flowers are blooming. It is a time when we can all feel a sense of hope and optimism. It is a time when we can all look forward to a bright future.

Cultivate Personality!

Be Interested in Others

By MRS. VIRGINIA LEE

IT IS a sort of bloom on a woman. If you have it, you don't need to have anything else, and if you don't have it, it won't matter what you have. Some women, the few, have charm for all, and most have charm for none. But some have charm for you.

What Sir James Barrie, in his play, "What Every Woman Knows," said of a girl who is a "charm" is true. Can it be acquired? What answer shall we give to these little school girls, who as their letters say, "have been comparing notes and wondering?"

"DEAR MRS. LEE: We realize that the question we are asking you in this letter is an old, old one and that you must be very tired of answering it. But we really would like to know your definition of charm. Why is it that some girls seem to know how to attract boys as well as girls and have such good times all through life while others—very often finer—never seem to know how to attract anyone?"

FORMER MISSIONARY TO INDIA TO TALK HERE
Rev. W. B. Alexander, who for 15 years was a missionary in India, will tell of his experiences and of the customs and habits of natives of that country at the service at 10:30 o'clock Sunday morning at Central Christian Church. Rev. George E. Groves, pastor, will preach the fourth of a series of special sermons on the subject, "Conversion," at the night service, 8 o'clock, at the same church.

Plans are in progress for three special services including a "mother and daughter's day" program, Mar. 13, at which time a prize will be awarded the mother and daughter between whom there is the most marked resemblance and also the mother having the largest number of daughters present.

FAREWELL PARTY
Members of the Bible Class, of First Presbyterian Church, entertained with a farewell party for Mrs. J. D. Cannon and Mrs. Alta Goodrich yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. W. C. Torrence, E. Center-st. The honor guests soon will move to Richmond. The time was spent socially and refreshments were served.

PLAN GALLON WORK
Plans were made for the drill team to put on the work at Gallon, Mar. 22, at the meeting of members of Marion Lodge, No. 402, Knights of Pythias, last night in their hall. One application was received. Arrangements also were made for a euchre contest with the Pythian Sisters next Tuesday. The next regular meeting will be in two weeks.

Baked Prunes and Apricots—One pound prunes, one-half pound of apricots, cold water to cover. Wash the fruit and cover with the water. WELL, dear little maid, I am sure you are like your letter. I think you already have that elusive thing called "charm" that you crave. Adhere to your resolution never to do anything to lower yourself in your own estimation and you won't have to work about the question of your personal attractiveness. Cultivate your own personality and be interested in others. That is a sure way to be popular. One of the most popular girls I ever knew was not a bit pretty, but she was sympathetic and could chatter away and put the most beautiful person at his ease.

And about the matter of talking, I read an amusing bit in a recent book, where the hero is advising a woman to "charm" him to secure this same "charm." We have been talking about it.

"Talk about the man you're with. Make him your world-of-all work. And always, when you meet anyone or a group, make a remark during the first minute after you've been introduced. Let them know you're there. It doesn't matter what you say—anything'll do, but say something."

"About people I'd be peppy if you can't but don't try to be. I don't think there's anything worse than forced pep. Vivacity is spontaneous, or it's nothing."

And he wasn't far off in his advice after all.

UTILITY CIRCLE
Mrs. Leora Hamilton, Mrs. Ada Bauer, Mrs. Anna Lehman and Mrs. Margaretie Zachman were hostesses to members of Canby Utility Circle yesterday afternoon in the lodge hall. Tables were arranged for euchre, bridge and other games. The program will be the vocal sketch, "From Oliver to Calvary."

CHAPTER SIXTY-THREE

"Go through," he said briefly, "but be sure, be sure you can run a pardonnee to stop him, and the man's name is—"

"Let me stop him in Geneva," I said.

"No fool," said the Commissioner. "He'll be across the French border by now, through Frangy. There are double posts the Jura at Bellefleur and head straight for Basle. But he'll be back to Switzerland in a matter of hours, report to the Center. We will be at the frontier stations, but it will be easy to catch him. Back to Geneva now. Then I can get to work."

"I entered his car and were soon on our way back to the Hotel de Ville. As we went I urged the danger to the Commissioner was exposed. He said, "I'll do all we can," said the Commissioner. "I'll be through at once. The police at Basle."

Back in Geneva, I could not refrain from smiling the way in which the man went to work. Now that there was no immediate problem to be faced, he regarded completely the red tape and so bound and hampered him at his first meeting. He was energetic at once, telephoning dictating telegrams, reporting on the night's work, and generally stirring up the sleepy office into a ferment of activity.

He had asked me to wait in his private room, ordering me a drink and saying that if I wanted occupation I should find something of interest in the left-hand top drawer of his desk.

I waited as it seemed for hours, slipping hands on to desk and trying to keep my mind to pass the time and with the idea that it might help me to keep cool enough for the work in hand. I opened the top drawer of the Commissioner's desk and found, lying on the top of a mass of papers, a large photograph, which on closer inspection proved to be a reproduction, magnified to three times its size, of the famous handkerchief.

I switched on the reading lamp and sat down to examine the photograph. It did not take me two minutes to see how the message had been concealed, and I marveled at the ingenuity of the method. The handkerchief, as I have said, was an ordinary hemstitched one of white linen, and the message was in the stitching round the borders. The stitching was in two rows. It began in the left-hand top corner of the outer row. An eight round the handkerchief, and then started on the inner row. It was written in the ordinary Morse code, the dots and dashes being recorded by the means of the stitches, a short stitch for a dot and a longer one for a dash. These characters were easily apparent in the photographic enlargement, though the stitching on the handkerchief itself did not seem to be in any way unusual. As a matter of fact, every word had been taken down by the police in ink on the photograph beneath the combinations of dots and dashes. The whole message, which was written in English, ran as follows:

201 thousand best cocaine, 650,000 morphine, surplus war stocks supposed destroyed by Government at your disposal minimum price 25 Swiss francs per kg. Calling Edelweiss fifteen for answer. F.

(K.G. abbreviated for kilogram.)

A glance at the diagram which I have attached to this narrative will make it clear.

Here then was the mysterious code which had proved so impossible to decipher. I understood at once how nobody not in possession of the secret and not looking for any special marks could fail to be baffled, a fact which explained why I had been able to deceive Patience with a substitute. It will be remembered that the Center himself, before being able to identify the handkerchief with certainty, had called for

HILL DANCE BILL UP BEFORE HOUSE MONDAY

Vote on Measure Sponsored by Marion Representative Expected in Short Time

The bill introduced in the state legislature by H. E. Hill, representative from Marion County, to prohibit public dances and roller skating on Sunday is expected to be voted upon in the house Monday night or Tuesday afternoon. Mr. Hill started today while here during the legislature's week-end recess.

The proposal was scheduled for a vote in the house this week but it was prevented by deliberations on other measures taking more time than had been anticipated. Mr. Hill believes that his bill, which has attracted a controversy of statewide proportions, will pass in the house. He makes no prediction one way or the other in regard to its prospects in the senate. Should the house vote favorably on the proposal it is expected that the fight for or against it in the senate will develop into one of the warmest and more spectacular controversies of the present legislative session.

DO not know when I ever late spent a more miserable two hours than those of Lilian's dinner in honor of father. Yet this should have been most pleasant, for like all Lilian's entertainments the dinner was perfect in appointments. But Mary's unaccountable behavior so puzzled and annoyed me that I was able neither to be just to the food nor to can save perfection to the lively and interesting conversation which my father, Lilian and Dicks were enjoying to full.

That young Noel Verizen was also inept, I noticed early in the course of the meal. He was undoubtedly attracted by Mary in spite of her croak and confusion of voice, her bizarre facial make-up and her glistening catch

He looks and fascinating precisely by correlating with that the new in the world would desert first, which we entered Jack Leslie was exercising over him. He was also strong in our minds.

Need Is Puzzled

One of our objects was certainly accomplished. I told myself, if Mary's successes and actions were an index of her thoughts. There was no positive in the admiring glaze of attraction she cast on every word, and I was sure I hoped that the ease with which he requested had been made would not in any genuine fashion, lower its value for me.

To all appearance, however, he was interested in me but never once in love. It is not at present a matter of observation of me and when the dinner was nearly over, I heard him say to a friend:

"Do you know, you remind me so much of—"

Mary turned swiftly upon him with playful petulance that set bold red prominence in it.

"Tell me for the love of Kobak's shirt!" cried I, reminding you of no object but the one that banded me to my object. Mary said, "I think I am." A universal yes because some men are always telling me that I look just like his sweetest or his sister or his mother or his aunt.

"What is your particular relative, your grandmother?"

That there was distinct selfishness behind her question was apparent, but young Vernon did not choose to grasp it.

"Perhaps," he said, with an engaging smile, "I never saw a closer resemblance, however. Your hair, your

"Probably a dozen of 'em, judging by the times I have to answer the questions you just asked," she retorted playfully. "But they're left out a few times. Doesn't your latest double have a nose and my cheek bones and my mouth?"

I did not blame him for looking a little incredulous and embarrassing scrutiny at the lovely mouthful lips speaking the flattering words.

"Your mouth," he said at last, "is the only feature, I really cannot tell."

"Have about a quick look at him," I said, giving an admission for her to look very profound. She said, "or else you are not very embarrassed." But when she was left over, remember me kindly to her, will you?"

And Victoria looked at her innocent smile.

"Both your premises are wrong," he said, but I'll surely remember your request."

Frankie Frisch Declares St. Louis Will Again Win, But Walsh Doesn't Agree

Unrest In Camp

Some of the outfit, in fact, still are Hornsby's men in spirit. In consequence a vague feeling of unrest is said to pervade the Cardinal camp and matters haven't been improved to any considerable extent by the fact that Sam Freedson declines to pay Thevenow $6,000 for the season, a piffing amount in these days of runaway salaries.

Yesterday they looked out at Jack Fournier, of the Braves, flat-footing around first base at $12,500 for the school term and then knew that Frisch will get three times the amount Thevenow wants and probably won't get. For Mr. Fournier seemingly is a man of ideas and most of them are quite original.

He must know that Frisch may prove a poor second baseman without Thevenow, yet he is unwilling to pay the key-man one-third of what he has already volunteered to pay the dependent player. Freedson's principal animosity for case. The Cards have taken a fancy to Rootzer's gelding but Clark has taken a fancy to hitting them far and furious and that may get him the decision, if any is rendered. There may be no use as the Cards still have Roseco Ho as extra man and the ailing Iliades is walking to work in a wheel chair.

Chary Flowers, no less, is playing in Thevenow's place at the moment with George Toporek acting as an extra-man man, completing the list of infielders. Flowers formerly was teamed above Thevenow but injured a digit and wasn't the same thereafter. He is doing nicely now but isn't a climate of Thevenow's by some degree.

Few Young Pitchers

There are a few young pitchers left but nobody seems to know just to use one of them. Allen Stube, of Webb Grove, of St. Louis, is doing the best as well enough to break through the imposing array of regulars. The ones up for Russell Miller, Colum

Members of the Marion Steam Shovel Athletic team have disbanded for the winter and will not again don their suits until next fall, Manager Francis W. Bacon announced today.

The Steam Shovelers played their last game a week ago when they defeated the Isaly Dalries, 40 to 35, in the final contest of a three-game series, between the two teams.

Organizing in December, the Steam Shovel crew has made a great record for itself during its first season as a professional club. The mainstays of the quietest were Haldy Compton, Dewey Hubner, Harry Schwab, Rub Wilson, and Manager Bacon. Other players who saw action at times on the team were Hall, formerly of the Kinneers; Sacksteder of Dayton; Bob Shaw and Mel Shaw of the Kinneers. Compton is now playing with the Isaly Dalries during the Columbus tournament.

LOSE TEN HOME GAMES

The Steam Shovel lost only two home games during the entire season and during that time met some of the greatest clubs in the country. The two victories were scored by Ohio Wesleyan University and Kenyon College early in the season. Ohio Wesleyan few months later came within a point of defeating the famous Dayton University quietest for the championship of the Buckeye Athletic Association.

One of the greatest victories recorded during the year was chalked up against the Akron Firecoats. The Shovel gained the score on that group. Haldy Compton held the noted Springfield to no field goals. The Firecoats defeated the Shovels at Akron by a point a week later. It was the out-of-town dogsnail marked against the local outfit.

Opponents to fall before the Shovel attack include the Buffalo Lincoln team, Northern, Robert-Lees, Mill Clothers, Harborton Post, Kenton New York, Isaly Dalries, and others.

The Shovel crew will reorganize in season and expects to book some of the toughest basketball outfits in the country.

SOFTWOODS ARE BEGINNING TO MOVE, REPORT

Survey Shows Weather Still Handicap in Movement
in Some Sections

In its review of the lumber market, the American Lumberman, Chicago, says:

"Trade in softwoods is getting under way, though in important consuming sections bad weather is still a handicap to building. A heavy snowstorm having blanketed a good part of the eastern seaboard last week. But in sections where outdoor work is possible, retail yards are moving more lumber to job. There is not yet any pressing need for replenishment of yard stocks, but the dealers are kept even by ordering mixed cars for rush shipment. Some of them are now more disposed to provide for later needs, but the greater number of them, confident that mills can ship quickly, refrain from speculative buying against a possible advance of a dollar or two in wholesale prices."

Lumbermen in general believe there will be an active spring movement of softwood, but all along the line from mill to retailer they are proceeding cautiously. All wish to keep their stocks low, and therefore cases are still being reported of mills disposing of surplus lots at price concessions. But undoubtedly there is less of this than there was a week or so ago. Even mills that are keen for business are firmer in their quotations, for they expect a stronger market in a few weeks. In fact, the West Coast mills usually demand fifty cents to a dollar more for dimension and timbers than was the ruling price recently."

Increase Shown
The principal group of softwood mills, southern pine and Douglas fir producers, looked orders during the first eight weeks of 1927 which give an average per mill per week of five per cent more than that for the same groups in the corresponding period of 1926. Production of these mills averaged practically the same. During the week ended February 26, southern pine orders were one per cent below production, while bookings of West Coast mills were six per cent above production.

Hardwood mills have been enjoying a good volume of business from the automobile manufacturers, and now find that furniture trade is improving, and that exports are also gaining. Building trades demand is of fair volume for so early in the season. While prices of hardwoods have advanced they are still below the levels of last fall, so that markups are expected as spring trade opens.

Round Flue is Held To Be Solution to Problem of Safe Chimney Construction

Baldauf & Schlientz Stressing Use of Holland Type as Measure
To Prevent Fires and Save Fuel;
Point Out Blaze Toll

The problem of chimney construction has long been considered a vital one. During each minute of the 24 hours in each day, $1,000 in property is being wiped out by fire. Each week a minimum of 1,000 dwellings, 150 apartment buildings, twelve churches, and ten schools go up in smoke, and the annual loss of 65,000 dead and injured are some of the toll of the fire demon. Improper chimney construction is responsible for the major part of this loss.

Scientific progress has brought to light the many advantages of the round flue chimney, as compared to the old square type flue, that has been almost universal use in homes, churches, apartment houses, and in fact practically all chimneys excepting those used in large factories and industrial plants. The greater security against fire, and the enormous saving of fuel resulting from the round flue chimney, has caused that type of construction to be used by industrial concerns long before a practical "round flue chimney" was devised for use in homes and other smaller buildings.

Chimney Patented
The Holland round flue chimney is a patented chimney that has created a new era in chimney construction. It automatically prevents soot collection by the elimination of the dead air pockets, common in the old types of square flue brick chimneys. It provides a round, smooth interior surface in which the smoke and gases go whirling up their spirally ascending path.

The friction of the gases wiping clean every portion of the chimney interior. An unique and very important feature of the Holland round flue chimney construction is that "every vertical joint is a 'locked joint,' a type of construction that makes it impossible for the mortar to fall out of the vertical cracks, a very dangerous and common fault of the ordinary brick chimney, creating a certain and dangerous fire hazard, as well as material reducing the draft."

Save Fuel
The round flue chimney conforming to the natural law of heat rising in a spiral manner, is freed from the descending air currents and back drafts, that so seriously impair the action of square flue chimneys. Because of this fact there is a fuel saving that cannot be passed unnoted. Reasons for this large fuel saving are apparent, in as much as to obtain maximum heat delivery from fuel, a steady distribution of oxygen must continually pass over the fire bed, so that perfect combustion can be obtained. The jumpy draft from eddy currents in a square cornered flue, shuts off the steady distribution of oxygen over the fire bed, just that moment heat loss is sustained, and clinkers and improperly burned fuel are found in the grate of the furnace.

Accurate tests with the Holland Round Flue Chimney show that because it is more sensitive to draft changes regulating the heater fire, the domestic heater gives a saving of upwards of 12 per cent in fuel consumption. The steady distribution of oxygen over the fire bed results in perfect combustion given minimum heat delivery for every pound of coal consumed.

The Holland round flue chimney is attractive in outward appearance, is inexpensive to build, in fact costs no more than the old type of chimney. Baldauf & Schlientz, 150 N. Greenwood St., are the local distributors for this new innovation in chimneys.

REBUKES RAIDERS

Hamilton Municipal Court Judge Dismisses Case, Returns Revolver

Hamilton, Mar. 12.—Another rebuke to a mayor's court was handed down here by Municipal Judge Alphonse Pater, who dismissed a case against a man who had already entered a plea of guilty, and returned a revolver to him. Judge Pater severely criticized raiders attached to Mayor Morris Y. Shuler's court at Seven Mile.

The defendant, Simeon Hampton, was arrested by Ben Howard and James Baker, on a charge of intoxication, and the raiders seized the pistol in Hampton's home. Judge Pater held that officers armed with a search warrant for liquor, could seize only liquor in a man's home, and remarked that "In Russia, people have more liberty when it comes to searching homes than we have over here."

PRODUCTION OF SILK GROWING, REPORT SHOWS

Department of Commerce Survey Indicates Industry Is Developing Rapidly

Washington, Mar. 12.—The Department of Commerce announces that, according to data collected at the biennial census of manufacturers taken in 1926, the establishments engaged primarily in the manufacture of silk products, not including knit goods made of silk, reported a total output, for 1925, valued at $895,970,350, an increase of 6.3 per cent as compared with $761,322,119 for 1923, and of 28.7 per cent as compared with $683,418,755 for 1921.

The total for 1925 was made up as follows: Broad silks, 482,615,974 square yards, valued at $529,121,011; velvets, 6,077,593 square yards, $14,524,662; plushes, 924,613 square yards, $2,352,307; upholstery and tapestries, 2,675,151 square yards, $5,957,233; thrown silk, for sale, 10,862,855 pounds, $11,635,808; spun silk, for sale, 3,480,204 pounds, $15,262,824; ribbons, $72,061,180; miscellaneous products, $70,668,735; receipts for contract work, $18,942,544.

Large Increase

Of the total value of broad silk, $425,000,944 was contributed by all-silk broad silks and $103,121,067 by broad silks made from a combination of silk and other fibers. The production of the former increased from 230,903,226 square yards, valued at $284,760,628, in 1921 to 271,819,629 square yards, valued at $332,842,675, in 1925, and to 384,125,258 square yards, valued at $425,990,944, in 1925. The output of silk-mixed broad silks increased from 47,507,879 square yards, valued at $56,296,129, in 1921 to 104,402,040 square yards, valued at $123,240,144, in 1925, but declined to 98,390,716 square yards, valued at $103,121,067, in 1925.

This industry embraces two classes of establishments: (1) Those engaged primarily in the manufacture of finished silk products, not including knit fabrics, hosiery, and other knit goods made of silk; (2) those engaged primarily in the manufacture of silk yarn, known technically as organzine, tram, hard or crepe twist, and spun silk. The greater part of the work performed in the second class of establishments is done, on a contract basis, on materials owned by others.

Of the 1,650 establishments reporting in 1925, 825 were located in New Jersey, 470 in Pennsylvania, 216 in New York, 40 in Connecticut, 32 in Rhode Island, 27 in Massachusetts, 12 in Virginia, eight in Illinois, seven in Maryland, and the remaining 22 in 12 other states.

The statistics for 1925, as presented herewith, are preliminary and subject to such correction as may be found necessary upon further examination of the returns.
